- Policy recommendations
- Tools and resources for improving student success
- Research
- Communities of practice

Raise the bar for what can be expected of institutions in promoting student success in future

Analysis of institutions' QEP submissions and peer reviewer reports provide a great deal of information on what institutions are doing to improve student success.

While there is variation in how well initiatives at institutions are evaluated, there are ideas worth sharing.

Purpose of Code of Good Practice

To provide a resource from the higher education sector for the higher education sector of good ideas for helping students succeed (related to the QEP focus areas) that can be adopted or adapted for use at individual institutions.
